A unique resort on a truly tropical island

Saint Lucia is one of the Windward Islands in the Caribbean Sea.

Tourism is now the major source of income on this tropical island and, as such, visitors are welcomed with open arms by a people who are naturally warm and friendly.

When looking for the right place to stay for a vacation on Saint Lucia, the luxury Windjammer Landing resort is going to appear in every final shortlist.

Particularly if one reads the glowing reviews on Trip Adviser.

Located on the north shores of the island at Labrelotte Bay, Windjammer Landing is laid out as a Mediterranean village terraced over 60 tropical hillside acres.

Rodney Bay, the inlands premier designer shopping, restaurant and entertainment area is just down the road and, Castres, the island's capital is 8 km (5 mi) away.

Sea view villas

Windjammer Landing offers one, two, three and four bedroom luxury villas with patios overlooking the Caribbean Sea.

Windjammer Landing, Saint Lucia

The Windjammer packages

Guests at Windjammer Landing can opt for accommodation only or choose to go all-inclusive.

And while all-inclusive, in some destinations, can mean basic all the way, at Windjammer Landing this is anything but the case.

The resort serves the finest cuisine in all of its restaurants, premium wines and spirits and top notch service throughout.

Adding an ambassador

Each villa guest is also allocated one of Windjammer Landing's ambassadors whose role is to do as little or as much as needed to make the stay as enjoyable as possible.

Getting about the resort

With the villas built onto the hillside getting to and from the beachside reception, restaurants and bars, one can either hop aboard a fleet of mini busses, that ferry guests to and from their rooms or take a stiff, exhilarating walk.

Rest and relaxation

The resort has four adult pools and two children's pools.

There is also a full-service Serenity Spa with indoor and outdoor massage and beauty treatment areas.

And for the more active

Windjammer Landing has a gym with daily fitness classes including a pool workout.

Other organised beach and aqua activities include pool volleyball, beach soccer, aquacise, hikes, mixology and dance aerobics.

There are two floodlit tennis courts and water sports including hobie cat sailing, windsurfing, snorkelling and kayaking.

For the younger ones there are kids' and teens' clubs.

Wining and dining

Windjammer Landing has five sea view restaurants:

- the Upper Deck, serving International, Caribbean and seafood cuisine
- Papa Don's, serving Italian and Mediterranean dishes
- Dragonfly, which focuses of Euro-Caribbean cuisine with an Asian influence
- The beachside Embers bar and grill, and
- Jammer's Bar, which serves light meals.

Chef Bill Munn

Windjammer Landing's chef, Bill Munn, has created dishes for the Sultan of Brunei as well as prime ministers, presidents, and high chiefs of Pacific island nations.

Bill and his team now serve guests with equally appetising dishes.

Entertainment at Windjammer Landing

The resort hosts live music by the islands finest smooth jazz and Caribbean musicians.

The Tuesday evening managers welcome party has a limbo dancing and fire eating cabaret and a great live band

Service with a smile

Finally, Windjammer Landing looks after its staff, the vast majority of whom are islanders.

It's therefore no wonder returning guests welcome staff met on a previous visit as old friends.

And around Saint Lucia

Windjammer Landing can arrange a wide range of island tours.

These range from historical, rainforest and bird watching tours and trips to the islands tourist attractions including a tremendous half-day zip lining.

There is also the opportunity to enjoy more leisurely visits to the botanical gardens and the sulphur springs volcano.

A typical Trip Adviser review

Trip Adviser reviews are hugely complementary about Windjammer Landing.

One, typical reviewer, writes:

This was our third time back to Windjammer's and we had the most amazing holiday. We absolutely love it here. So why is Windjammer so fabulous? OK well the staff are second to none and they bend over backwards to make you feel welcome and at home.

The villas are lovely and clean with amazing views and great furniture.

The restaurants are superb but definitely check out having in house villa dining as this is just superb and so romantic. The mango daiquiris are quite something too.

Wedding bliss

With its location on a tropical Caribbean island, Windjammer Landing is a very popular wedding and honeymoon destination.

The resort has a range of wedding packages and its wedding planners take care of every detail.
