A great place to stay in central London

To get the best from a London city break, one should look to be based in the heart of the action.

The 4-star Mandeville Hotel is a city centre London hotel located close to Selfridges just off Wigmore Street in the Mayfair - Marylebone area of central London.

It is on the fringe of St Christopher's Place, one of London's thriving and liveliest dining and retail districts.

London's 'theatreland' and China Town are a stroll down Bond Street and Regent Street and through Piccadilly Circus.

One can also saunter down to the Houses of Parliament, via Downing Street, and the Thames, or take a stroll along the Mall or through St James's Park to Buckingham Palace.

The hotel itself underwent a £50 million refurbishment in 2005 to create a uniquely modern interior within its grand Edwardian façade.

Vibrant colours and amusing object d'art

Vibrant colours combine imaginative and amusing use of paintings and object d'art, particularly in the deVigne cocktail bar and deVille restaurant, which has received an AA Rosette award for its modern British cuisine.

The Mandeville, London, UK

Top class service

From first stepping through the glass doors into the stunning reception area, one gets a very personalised, first class service from all the hotel staff.

Style and sophistication throughout

The décor throughout the hotel is a blend of style and sophistication with vibrant colours to create something genuinely different for guests.

Afternoon tea

The Mandeville's Pink Fashion Afternoon Tea, served on Zandra Rhodes china, has long been a favourite and there is now the Men's Afternoon Tea.

The deVille Restaurant

The deVille serves organic produce from local suppliers, with seasonal menus served in a relaxed and comfortable atmosphere amid the striking décor.

The deVigne Bar

The deVigne Bar has an extensive and imaginative cocktail list, created by the 'mixologist' and an extensive whisky list selected by spirit writer and broadcaster, Ian Wisniewski.

The bedrooms

Each of the 142 bedrooms at the Mandeville have been furnished with fabrics and wall coverings from some of the leading design houses.

All rooms are individually air-conditioned in summer and heated in winter.

There is 24-hour room service.

The modern marble bathrooms are equipped with power showers, telephone and Etro bath accessories.

The Red Room

For business events, the Red Room at the Mandeville meets all meeting and dining requirements, with state of the art AV equipment, Wi-Fi and air conditioning.
